

NOW HAVE PLANS TO CATCH DODGERS

Love Terms and Nominal Considerations to be Barred from Deeds of Transfers. Believed the Enactment of Such a Provision would Aid Materially in Fixing Values

LATEST ADDITION TO TAX LAW

If Legislature Enacts Measure to Be Introduced Soon All Documents Must State Actual Value in Cash Before Filled—Much Depends on Supreme Court's Decision as to Legality of the Present Session—If Knocked Out, Chaos Will Reign.

Columbus, O., March 6.—The latest provision to be written into the new taxation system the state administration is devising is one stating that all transfers of real property must be recorded as actually made. The old, familiar affectionate agreements to mystify the taxgatherer are to be barred. No longer are purported love gifts, which are really sales for cold cash, to stare unblushingly from the public records. A bill to be fathered by the house taxation committee will forbid the use of the phrases, "$1 and other considerations," "$1, love and affection," in deeds, bills of sale, etc. It will require that the real consideration in the sale be recorded. Such a record will lessen the task of the new official taxgatherer-to-be, the deputy state tax commissioner in and for each county, of compelling the listing of property at its true value in money.

Demands Release Of Two Americans

Edwards Says Converse and Blatt Kidnaped on Own Territory.

El Paso, March 6.—American Consul Edwards in Juarez has sent the following telegram to the secretary of state:

"After a thorough investigation, have found that Lawrence Converse and Edward Blatt were kidnaped by Mexican authorities on American soil, at least 500 feet from the boundary line.

"Have intervened with the Juarez authorities, but in vain. I join with the parents of Converse and Blatt in asking that you demand the prisoners' release at once."

Bertrand Succeeds Davila. Puerto Cortez, Honduras, March 6.—Francisco Bertrand has been agreed upon as provisional president of Honduras, to serve until a successor to President Davila is elected in October. Dr. Bertrand is a supporter of General Manuel Bonilla and was one of the three men proposed by him for provisional president when the revolutionary leader announced his withdrawal as a candidate.

Lands on Desolate Island. Nice, March 6.—Ex-Lieutenant Baque, formerly of the Algerian sharpshooters, left Antibes in a Blériot monoplane, intending to fly to Corsica, Sardinia, Sicily and Tunis. The wind, however, baffled him, and he was forced to follow the Italian coast until he landed on Gorgona, a rocky, desolate island facing Leghorn. In his landing his aeroplane was smashed. He covered a distance of 140 miles without being conveyed by any vessel.

CHARLES D. HILLES
Will Become President Taft's Private Secretary This Month

Hilles Lands The Job

Goes From Treasury to White House as Taft's Secretary.

Washington, March 6.—Formal announcement that Charles D. Hilles, at present assistant secretary of the treasury, will be the next secretary to the president, was made at a luncheon given by Charles D. Norton, the retiring secretary, to Mr. Hilles and newspaper friends. Norton will leave the White House some time this month and on April 5 will become vice president of the First National bank of New York.

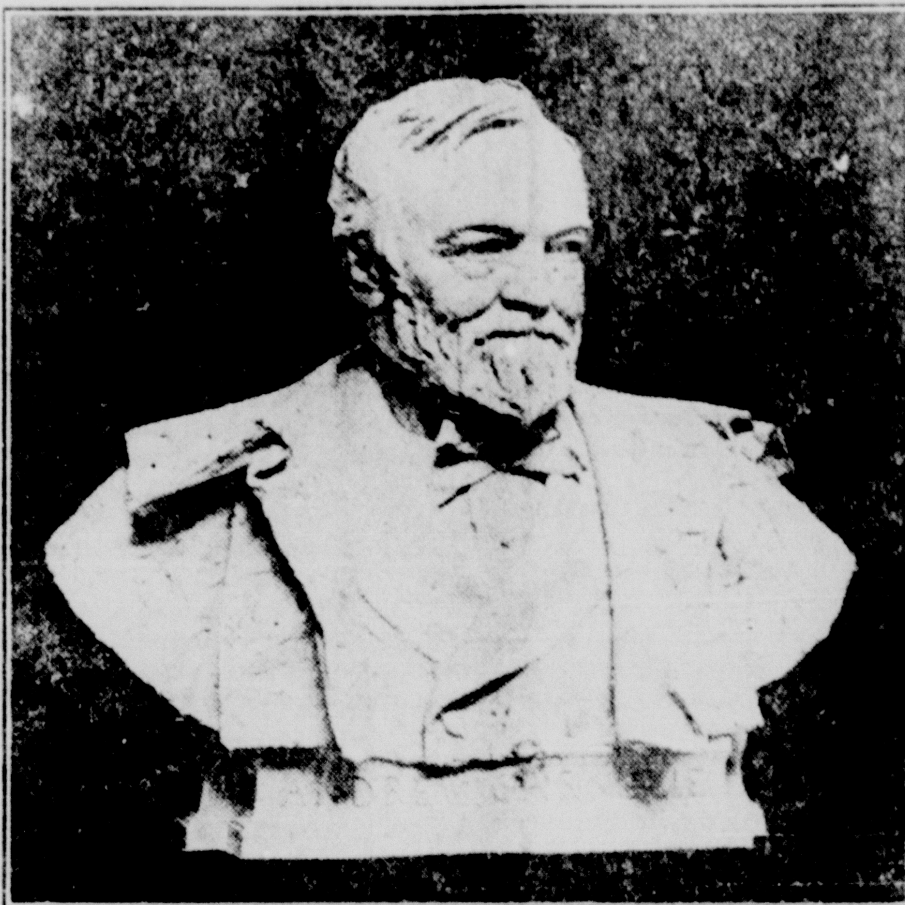

Gross Election Frauds Charged

Dunne Will Run Independent Against Carter Harrison.

Chicago, March 6.—Wholesale primary election frauds are charged in a petition for a recount of the ballots, under preparation for Edward F. Dunne, defeated for the Democratic mayoralty nomination by Carter H. Harrison. Friends of Judge Dunne on the side are preparing to run him as an independent. The former judge gave out a statement in which he charges that notorious crooks were allowed to act as election judges.

New Tariff Board Members. Washington, March 6.—President Taft appointed former Representative William M. Howard of Georgia and Thomas W. Page, professor of political economy in the University of Virginia, members of the tariff board, thereby increasing it from three to five members. The three present members are Republicans, the two new ones are Democrats.

Bronze Bust Shows Carnegie In Rector of University Robes

Copyright by J. Massey Rhind.

ANDREW CARNEGIE in bronze—that is, J. Massey Rhind, the well known New York sculptor, has modeled the ironmaster in clay and replicas have been cast in bronze. Mr. Rhind had a number of sittings before the bust was completed, and when it was finished the result was highly pleasing to Mr. Carnegie and his friends. They called it a perfect likeness, and the cut printed above shows that it possesses much character. Mr. Carnegie is shown in the robes of the lord rector of St. Andrews university, Scotland, he being the first American who ever held that honored office. Admirers of Mr. Carnegie have bought copies of the bust and have presented them to libraries which have been given to schools and municipalities by the philanthropist. The bust is preferred by many to a painting as being at the same time more lifelike and more enduring.

REFUSE TO BOW TO GOVERNOR DIX

Sheehan Issues Reply to Governor's Senatorial Dictum--Believed by Politicians that Governor's Move will Strengthen Sheehan in the Fight for Senator.

New York, March 6.—After a conference with several Democratic leaders of the state organization, including Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, William F. Sheehan issued the following statement in reply to Governor Dix's address to the legislature on the senatorial situation:

"I regret to see that the Democratic governor of the state has yielded to the solicitations of the small minority of the party who for weeks have been obstructing the election of the regularly chosen candidate of the party for United States senator.

"That my position may not be misunderstood, I now repeat what I said in my letter of Feb. 23, addressed to the Democratic members of the legislature:

Party's Wish Paramount.

"I shall remain as my party's candidate for United States senator so long as the party desires me to do so, no matter what the personal consequences to me may be. Nor will I, by word or deed, do anything that will justify the minority in their efforts to frustrate the declared will of the majority. If, however, the majority of all the elected Democratic senators and assemblymen shall sign a call requesting that the Democratic caucus be reassembled, I shall loyally abide by the decision of that caucus, and if such caucus shall decide that another than myself shall be chosen to carry the party standard which I have been carrying since Jan. 15, 1911, I will give to such candidate my unqualified and whole-hearted support, but short of such action I shall not be a party to the destruction of the principle of majority rule."

As a result of this statement and of conferences held, it is expected that the majority will steadfastly adhere to Sheehan as its candidate.

Denver Getting In Line For Place

Ohio Congressman Mentioned For House Rules Committee.

Washington, March 6.—Democratic leaders in the house have agreed upon a tentative plan for the special session to be convened on April 4. The house Democrats will pass the Canadian reciprocity agreement, revise the woolen and possibly part of the cotton schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and will then pass a bill reducing the duties on about 100 items, all necessities of life, including certain articles of wearing apparel. The Democrats of the ways and means committee are in session today for the purpose of outlining a definite program and electing the members of the rules committee. Representative Denver of Ohio is said to be slated for a position on the rules committee.

Queen Comforts Children.

Rome, March 6.—The two little daughters of the murdered Princess Giulia Trigona de Sant Elie sobbed out their grief in the arms of Queen Helena at the Quirinal. Her majesty was greatly affected and with difficulty controlled her emotions as she consoled the motherless ones and assured them of her continued protection.

Six Perish in Fire.

Center, Tex., March 6.—Caught in crashing brick walls of a small building from which they were carrying dry goods menaced by flames, six persons perished here. Many others were hurt, some of them fatally.

TWO PRECEDENTS ARE QUOTED

Express the Opinion That Texas Senator Is Down and Out as Result of His Hasty Action in Last Hours of Session—Vice President's Refusal to Accept Communication Criticized—Call For Extra Session Names April 4 as Date.

Washington, March 6.—Lawyer members in congress are raising the question as to whether Joseph W. Bailey is any longer a member of the senate, notwithstanding the fact that he withdrew his resignation about six hours after it had been sent to Governor Colquitt of Texas. Some lawyers argued that the resignation acted automatically, the minute Governor Colquitt acknowledged receipt of it, and that retirement from the senate in this manner is not affected by a governor's refusal to accept the resignation.

Other lawyers are inclined to the opinion that, the legislature being in session, the resignation becomes automatically effective the minute it comes before the legislature, and that the action of the Texas senate in voting on the motion to request Senator Bailey to withdraw his resignation constituted a formal recognition of it by that body. The lawyers who take this view contend that there is a very fine question whether Senator Bailey is not now out of the senate.

Matter of Minor Importance.

Another point raised is whether the vice president had the right to withhold the notice of resignation after its presentation to him for submission to the senate. This, however, is regarded as a minor point, the main question, the lawyers contend, being whether the resignation automatically followed its presentation to the governor.

What is regarded as a precedent for this situation is a case which occurred in the house in 1870, when a member of the house who had resigned was not permitted by the house to withdraw his resignation. This case, recorded in Hines' parliamentary precedents, was that of Representative J. S. Golladay of Kentucky. The question arose whether the governor of Kentucky had any right to refuse to accept Golladay's resignation. It was insisted on the floor of the house that Golladay, from the time he presented his resignation, was no more a member than any stranger in the gallery.

RIOT IN STREETS OF ZION CITY

New Leader's Parade Broken Up by Independent Dowleites.

Chicago, March 6.—An American flag was riddled with bullets, a score of heads were broken in two riots and two arrests were made in Zion City when Wilbur Glenn Voliva celebrated his victory over the Zion independents by the purchase of the Zion estate, which clinched his hold on the position formerly occupied by John Alexander Dowle. Voliva attempted to parade his followers through the streets of Zion City, but the line of march became a running fight between the paraders and flanking parties of independents.

Cly May Get New Trial.

Columbus, O., March 6.—After deliberating 22 hours, the jury in criminal court returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter, with a recommendation of mercy, in the case of Carl J. Cly, who murdered his wife last July when she returned from a joy ride with a former boarder in their home. The recommendation for mercy in a manslaughter verdict is something of an innovation in criminal jurisprudence, and may serve to secure a new trial, for which Cly's attorney at once filed a motion.

WHAT CONGRESS DID.

Measures Approved.

Provision of $1,000,000 for the fortification of the Panama canal; provision for two new battleships; reorganization of the judicial code, regarded as most important for the amelioration of the law's delays; creation of forest preserves in the Southern Appalachian and White mountains; providing for the construction of embassy and legation buildings abroad; creating Robert E. Peary a rear admiral on the retired list of the navy.

Measures Turned Down.

Failure of congressional reappointment bill based upon the new census; failure of the Canadian reciprocity agreement and consequent certainty of an extra session; failure of the permanent tariff board bill, which passed the senate but was killed by a filibuster in the house; failure of the resolution to admit to statehood Arizona and New Mexico; failure of the proposal to increase the rate of postage on advertising editions of the large magazines; failure of the resolution providing for the direct election of United States senators; failure of the general age pension bill; failure to act on Ballinger-Pinchot investigation reports; failure to enact the ocean mail subsidy; failure of the effort to unseat William Lorimer as senator from Illinois, on the ground of alleged bribery in his election.

Nine Nicaraguans Banished.

Washington, March 6.—Nine prominent citizens of Managua have been exiled by order of President Estrada for complicity in the recent fire and explosion of the government arsenal there. Elliott Northcott, American minister to Nicaragua reported to the state department that this action had been taken following the investigation of the accident. One of those exiled was Rodolfo Espinosa, who was formerly minister here under the Zelaya regime.

OVERWHELMING EXPRESSION FAVORS CENTRAL GROUND SITE

Thirteen Hundred and Nine Residents of Washington Sent or Brought Ballots to The Herald Office in the School Site Contest--Almost Double the Number who Voted in the Bond Issue Election

More than Three Times as Many Votes Cast for Central Grounds as were Cast for All Other Sites Combined--Only Persuasive, Not Binding in Effect on School Board.

GREAT INTEREST WAS SHOWN

The "election" is over. The opportunity afforded the people of Washington to express their choice of location for the new High school building is past. During the contest which was inaugurated by THE HERALD for the sole purpose of getting an expression of opinion of Washington people, finding out just what the people wanted, if it was possible to do so, in the matter of locating the new high school building.

The interest exhibited in the contest is proof positive that the people have been and are now thinking deeply on this all-important question of location.

Thirteen hundred and nine residents of Washington voted in the contest which opened last Monday and closed Saturday night. Thirteen hundred and nine residents of Washington were enough interested in the question to mark their ballots and either bring or send them by mail with a two-cent stamp or by messenger to THE HERALD office.

Thirteen hundred and nine residents of Washington expressed their choice of locations under the conditions named without solicitation, without a hint or argument or consideration of any kind, designed to influence their vote. They voted in this contest simply and solely because of their deep interest in the question and their desire that it be properly solved.

While not charged with the responsibility of making a choice of sites the people have felt that they had a deep interest in the matter and talk has been general on the streets and in the stores for some time. While each site mentioned had its firm advocates no satisfactory means of ascertaining just what the majority of the people really did want had been devised until THE HERALD contest was inaugurated.

The result of that contest is an overwhelming expression of opinion in favor of the Central school ground site as the spot on which the new building should be erected.

Following is the detailed information as to the result of the contest:

FOR FIRST CHOICE.

Central	985
Paul	240
Point	68
Dale	16

Total vote 1309

FOR SECOND CHOICE.

Paul	196
Dale	191
Central	170
Point	36

FOR THIRD CHOICE.

Paul	112
Dale	105
Central	74
Point	56

FOR FOURTH CHOICE.

Point	131
Central	80
Dale	62
Paul	58

It is significant to note that while 1309 votes were cast in this contest, there were only 773 votes cast at the election, Monday, July 23, on the question as to whether or not the school district should bind itself in $100,000 bond issue to build a new grade school building, a new high school building and remodel some of the older grade buildings.

In that election true, only men were permitted to vote and THE HERALD contest just closed, both women and high school pupils were permitted to vote, 739 men voted in that contest.

Just what is the real foundation for the overwhelming sentiment in favor of the Central School lot is, of course, not positively known, but the reason most frequently expressed for its being favored, is that of economy.

Many who cast votes in the contest were outspoken in this belief that it would be extravagant to pay $14,000 or more for ground on which to build when so much room could be had with out any expense at the Central school lot. Many others based their preference on the ground of location. These two reasons for the bulk of those expressed.

As a matter of course the school board is charged with the duty, officially, of selecting the site and the result of the contest can have no binding legal effect upon them.

Whatever influence the result of the contest may have could be only persuasive, but overwhelming as that expression of preference is and the wide interest exhibited on all sides it would seem that the Board should have some good reason to advance for the selection of any other than the Central school grounds as the site for the new High school.

Of the 1309 votes cast 985 were for the Central grounds first, and only 224 for all other sites combined.

Practically a unanimous expression of preference for the Central grounds.

The result of the ballot since Saturday at one o'clock is as follows:

First Choice.	No.	Previously Counted.	Total.
Central School Grounds	114	871	985
The Point	9	59	68
John Paul Lot	38	202	240

Third Choice.	No.	Previously Counted.	Total.
Central School Grounds	4	70	74
The Point	8	48	56
John Paul Lot	22	99	121
W. E. Dale Lot	15	99	114
Fourth Choice.	No.	Previously Counted.	Total.

Three Defendants On Trial At Once

In Common Pleas court Monday morning the trial of criminal cases on the docket was taken up.

The first case called for trial was that of Ohio vs. Cornelius N. McCoy, Junius Pavey and Frank Rowe.

The defendants were indicted by the January Grand Jury for the crime of assault and battery and plead not guilty.

Mr. John Logan is assisting Prosecutor Pope Gregg in the trial and Post and Reid are defending.

The whole of the morning session was consumed in securing a jury so that the introduction of evidence was not begun until the afternoon session.

Isaac Pavey is the prosecuting witness and he claims that the three defendants assaulted him without cause about three months ago.

Y. M. C. A. Plans Here Now Ready For Bids

More Complete Information Detailed in Plans and Specifications Give Some Idea of the Building it will Be.

The plans and specifications for the new Y. M. C. A. building, furnished by Architect Frank L. Packard were received by the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday.

They are now on exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters in the Court House and open for inspection and contract bids. Any day but Sunday they can be viewed from 8:30 to 12 a. m. and 1:30 to 6 p.
m. Sealed bids will be received at the Y. M. C. A. office up to 6 p. m., March 23rd.

Those who have already seen the plans are expressing unstinted approval and their carrying out will insure an up-to-date Y. M. C. A. building fashioned on the most modern and approved lines, and one of the handsomest in this section of the state.

The building will be of vitrified brick with an imposing business front, free from ornamentation. A beautiful Marquise, set with glass and having copper roof, extends over the front entrance, and at the top of the facade, 18 inch copper letters,
Y. M. C. A. will stand out in bold relief.

The building will stand 5 feet above the grade level, which add to its stately appearance. There will be three stories and basement.

The first floor is planned with spacious lobbies, which will be open to the public. On this floor will be offices, reading rooms, cloak rooms and the splendid big gymnasium, 40x 63 feet. Sanitary drinking fountains and cuspidors will be installed in the gymnasium.

The entire arrangement is one of great convenience.

The second floor will contain a series of rooms to be used for the boys' work, and which can be thrown together by the use of the new flexible partitions, which roll into the walls.
This is a most advantageous feature as these class rooms can be converted into a large hall for mass meetings, lectures or entertainments. There will also be a kitchen on this floor, making possible banquets or suppers.

The kitchen can be used by the Camera club for a dark room when not in culinary use.

The basement with its complete fixtures, is the center of interest to many. Its immense swimming pool 16 x24, sloping from 36 inches to 8 feet in depth will be the most perfect of its kind.

In the general shower room there will be 4 shower baths and in the business men's shower room two showers.

The famous Kansas City Locker system to be installed is the newest improvement and includes separate apartments for the smaller boys.

The third floor will be given over to dormitory purposes.

One of the most commendable features of the building is the absolutely fireproof stairway, with stairs of iron. The brick walls are carried straight up the building, with smoke screens, re-enforced by concrete slabs resting on the top walls, and the doors are of the new fireproof glass.
There will be two entrances, the general one on Main and the boys' entrance on the alley.

In Social Circles

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean gave an elaborate six o'clock dinner Saturday evening at their beautiful country home near Cisco.

The affair was in honor of the seventieth birthday of Mr. McLean's father, Mr. James McLean, and was one of exceptional pleasure, with sincere congratulations and best wishes for many future natal days.

The five-course dinner was characterized by exquisite appointments, a crimson and green color scheme
most artistically carried out in clusters of carnations, crimson candles and confections, and crimson bows adding vivid touches. An immense white birthday cake, with "seventy" outlined in crimson, formed the centerpiece.

Enjoying to the fullest the genuine hospitality of the McLean home were Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Quinn, Mr.
and Mrs. Robert Howat, Mrs. George Fabb, of Cincinnati, and Capt. E. A.
Ramsey.

Miss Helen Ginn was hostess at an informal little tea Saturday afternoon in compliment to her attractive guest, Miss Cameo Hunt, of Sidney, now attending the H. Than Miller School in Cincinnati, and a classmate of Miss Ginn's last year.

Jonquils and ferns were employed in decoration and the afternoon refection most tempting. The guests included Misses Mary Craig, Mabel Calvert, Ethel Calvert, Marie Lanum,
Rose Noble and Claribel Smith.

Miss Hazel Eckle delightfully entertained quite a number of young friends of this city Sunday afternoon, at her home on the Columbus pike.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowe Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98% of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive,
pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and
10c. Sold only at our store—The

BE GENEROUS.

The present agitation for a more liberal pension bill for the surviving veterans of the Civil war brings to the minds of the people the services rendered the nation in the hour of its sorest need by the members of the most magnificent army that ever trod the earth.

Few of the older people remember and comparatively few of the younger generations know that the service rendered by that army was not confined to the hardships and dangers of the campaign in the field.

One of the greatest services rendered by that army is summed up at the conclusion of a long editorial in the National Tribune of January 5th, 1911, in the following language:

"The darkest financial period of the war occurred in July, 1864, when Jubal Early's army was knocking at the doors of Washington. It then seemed that all of the prodigious efforts of the country had gone for naught and that the rebellion had the virility and the audacity that it had exhibited at the very start.

The money lenders, to use Abraham Lincoln's homely expression thought that "the bottom was about to fall out of the whole thing" and refused to lend the treasury any more money. The only men who were still full of hope and confidence were those at the front who were fighting the nation's battles and dying in its defense. Out of their slender pay we repeat (and the secretary's words confirm us) they lent the government $20,000,000 to tide over the emergency, and it was one of the greatest of the innumerable great deeds which the volunteer army did in the war."

And yet there are those today perhaps, numbering the descendants of those who refused to extend the helping hand to the government in the darkest hour of its peril who oppose any substantial increase in the pensions because it would cost the government too much.

What did it cost the volunteer soldier to leave business, home and family, shoulder his gun and for a long period of time campaign in the field in the nation's defense? What did it cost him in physical suffering, what in self-denial? What did it cost his family?

Not content with this all sufficient exhibition of patriotism and unselfish sacrifice that the nation might be preserved, the volunteer soldiers gave of the meagre salary which the government could afford to pay $20,000,000 when the danger was too great for the money lenders to risk more.

The knowledge of this action of the soldiers of the volunteer army in casting the last remnant on the altar of patriotism should remove from consideration of a grateful government all objection based on economy.

The sole question should be in the consideration of an increase of the pension laws, does the old soldier need the increase.

Not can the nation afford to do it. It is not a subject nor is now the time when so many of the old army are answering to the last roll call, for the application of rigid business principles.

Business principles prevented the money lenders in July, 1864, from extending any further credit to the government, but business principles did not govern the volunteer soldier when he emptied his slender purse into the nation's strongbox.

Business principles should not govern now if the old soldier needs more to live on and comfortably on he should have it.

A grateful nation should not quibble with the veterans of the Civil war—the majority of people are not in sympathy with the paring knife when the old soldier is to be cared for in his declining years.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson is surely finding out that the job of curbing a Buckeye state senator is nothing like the pinch he had been led to believe it to be before tackling it.

Well, yes, there must have been some sniffling in various quarters when Chauncey Depew intimated that the magazines put him out of public life.

At any rate the concocter of the story that Col. Bryan refused a million dollar bribe when he was in Congress did not put him in the cheap class.

However, President Taft is doubtless thankful that he was not had to pick an entire new cabinet, as the President of France has just had to do.

One reason relegating the political steam roller to the scrap heap is that the rolled always hope to become rollers.

POETRY FOR TODAY

BACK TO THEN.

I'm going back; I'm going back, and be a boy again,
Leave far behind the cares of now and taste the joys of then.
I'm going to dive head-first once more in that old swimmin' hole
And wander 'long the river's banks with my cane fishin' pole.
Back to the joys of yester years, when life was free from care;
When every sky was azure blue and every breeze was fair.
I'm going to sit upon the bank and chew the rag with Blunk,
And watch to see my bobbing cork go underneath—ker-plunk!

I'm going back; I'm going back, through all the vanished days
And gather in the bloom of youth along the old-time ways.
Down by the mill and through the woods, and past the shaded hill,
And through the pasture lot that lies along the rippling rill;
Right to the stump that's leaning o'er the deepest, darkest pool,
Where lurk the bullheads and the perch beneath the waters cool.
And then, forgetful of life's cares, I'll sit and talk with Blunk.
While we keep careful watch to see when our corks go ker-plunk!

I'm going back; I'm going back, forgetful of the years
That tinge my once black hair with gray, forget all cares and tears.
To be a care-free boy again, with happy joyous heart,
And sit and fish the old, old stream where cautious bullheads dart.
Then, when the sun sinks slowly down behind the crimson west,
And birds and beasts have settled down for hours of peaceful rest,
I'll slowly take the backward trail, and later, in my bunk,
I'll say "lay me down to sleep"—and dream of youth, and Blunk!"

—Will M. Maupin in The Commoner.

Morse's Glycerole is the one sure and safe method of causing sweet, restful and energy-restoring sleep. It is in no way a narcotic. It is the very essence of pure vegetable elements—scientifically blended. It relaxes, rests and tones the fatigued and worn-out nerves. Then comes the peaceful slumber of a tired child. You awake refreshed. It doesn't let you slip back as anything in the nature of a narcotic will.

Morse's Glycerole acts directly as a corrective. That is, it immediately starts to bring health to the blood, the tissues, stomach, bowels and such other organs as may require aid. Most of them do require aid if you do not sleep.

If one bottle of Morse's Glycerole does not convince you of its thorough superiority over every other tonic, take it back to Blackmer & Tappan or the druggist you bought of. They will take your half used bottle and refund your money. Comes in two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Trial Of Condemnation Suit Is Now On

The trial of the condemnation suit to appropriate land for street purposes in order that the city may open up a street from North street across to Millwood was begun Monday morning in Judge Patton's Probate court.

The jury was empanelled and sworn Monday of last week and taken out in custody of the sheriff to view the premises sought to be condemned after which the court adjourned the hearing until today. The city is represented by Solicitor Rankin and W. B. Rogers while those resisting the action are represented by H. H. Sanderson, Ed. L. Bush and Post & Reid.

The testimony introduced by the city this morning was directed mainly to the lines and property valuations. City Engineer Tom Groves, John A. Paul and James Douglas testified on these and other points at today's hearing.

Much interest attaches to both sides of this hearing.

Town Topics.

In a $200,000 apartment house in New York there are suits that rent for $20,000 a year. One would think it would be cheaper to own a house.

Danville, Ind., is suffering from a dearth of officeholders, and yet Danville in the adjoining state of Illinois boasts of one of the most conspicuous examples that few die and none resign.

Berchard produced Rostand's wonderful play, "La Samaritaine," in Chicago. The part of it that thrilled Chicago was the scene where the man on his way to Jericho falls among the olives. That is so Chicagoesque.

Sporting Notes.

In making ball players pay for their own uniforms club owners will save $500 each.

There's joy in Jungletown. Princeton varsity and freshmen crews can row their intercollegiate rivals for the first time since 1884.

Bob Emelle, St. Thomas, Canada, is an expert rifle shot. He's the empire the National league is pensioning because his eyesight is poor.

Lacrosse is the only Indian game on the college sporting curriculum. Lacrosse is the most American of all games. Baseball? Well, Henry Chadwick always maintained baseball was an adaptation of the old English game of rounders.

Pert Personals.

Mr. Carnegie evidently is not alone determined to die poor, but to die in peace.—Providence Journal.

John D. advises young men to save one-fifth of their income. What's your game, John?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Graham-White is said to have accumulated $100,000 by his exhibitions. In his case the adage should read, "Wings have riches."—Washington Star.

The explanation of Dr. Cook's original claim that he discovered the pole is that he was crazy. The explanation of his confession is that he is broke.—Houston Post.

Tales of Cities.

New York forbids electric signs projecting more than six feet from the building line.

Buenos Aires is also working for the "city beautiful." In nine years it has set out more than 142,000 trees and has opened eighty parks.

Buenos Aires has only recently completed a new and extensive system of docks and port equipment, yet so rapidly has been the increase of the commerce that complaint of congestion is already heard.

Fearful Havoc Wrought By Insane Man

Harry McKinney was taken before Judge A. C. Patton Monday morning on a lunacy charge, preferred by Frank Casey, Superintendent of the County Infirmary.

After due examination, including the testimony of physicians and attendants at the infirmary, familiar with his conduct Judge Patton issued an order committing him to the Central Insane Asylum at Columbus.

McKinney has been an inmate of the infirmary for more than a year past and up until recently has given comparatively little trouble.

He is well known to residents along this lower end of the Waterloo pike, where he has worked for a number of years in truck patches, making a specialty of Watermelon patches.

A few years ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis which to a certain extent affected his mind and he was taken to the infirmary perfectly harmless. Of late, however, his mental derangement has become more pronounced and while always bidable he has wandered through the halls at all hours of the day and night, imagining that he was a prize fighter and in search of somebody to whip.

He took a violent dislike to Peter Morgan who lives in the log cabin on the south side of the pike and a little east of the infirmary farm entrance.

Last Tuesday evening he eluded the attendants at the infirmary and ran off over to the Morgan place.

Arming himself with two large rocks he proceeded to force an entrance and to demolish all of the property in the house. Morgan arrived on the scene and was compelled to knock McKinney down before he could stay the work of destruction.

When the attendants, who were sent for at once reached the scene there was scarcely anything left of Morgan's home, and McKinney was laid low by the blow from Morgan.

McKinney was taken back to the infirmary, but he was so wildly insane that Superintendent Casey deemed it advisable to institute proceedings against him.

He kept him until Monday morning when he brought him in and turned him over to Sheriff Neilson.

He will probably be taken to Columbus tomorrow.

-FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

FOR ALL COUGHS AND COLDS

For bronchitis, hoarseness and tickling in the throat. Especially recommended for children and delicate persons. No opiates. A medicine, not a narcotic. The Bee Hive on the carton is the mark of the genuine. Refuse substitutes.

A Reliable Cough Medicine.

Is a valuable family friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure and do not hesitate to recommend it highly." For la grippe coughs and stuffy colds, for children and grown persons and for delicate people use only Foley's Honey and Tar. Contains no opiates. Blackmer & Tanquary.

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWS A COLD

But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar, which checks the cough and expels the cold. M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo., says, "It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and cough and was threatened with pneumonia. One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured me." No opiates, just a reliable household medicine. Blackmer & Tanquary.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL OPENING DAY AUSPICIOUS

Aspects Are Encouraging for a Very Successful Week---Even Larger Attendance Anticipated--The Home Course One of the Most Important Features.

Payette County Agricultural school started off Monday morning with much interest and encouraging prospects for a successful week.

It is expected that there will be a larger enrollment tomorrow than the agricultural course and the home course.

H. E. Easwine, assistant in charge of Extension, O. S. U., at the head of the school, opened the session and will be here off and on through the week. Mr. Easwine also pushed the agricultural course of the High schools in this county, which has an enrollment of 120.

Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg, and Williamsport, in which towns the High schools have established agricultural courses.

A. Welton, of the Wooster Extension Station, made the first address in the Agricultural course, taking the subject of Soil Fertility.

Mr. Easwine emphasized the drain upon the soil of plant food, nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

He showed the amount that each crop takes from the soil. He also showed the amount of plant foods in average soil and emphasized the importance of soil study, so as to keep fertility by the supplying of plant

W. H. Darst, of the O. S. U., made "Corn Improvement" and importance of selecting the right corn. If the present corn comes from the inferior seed of primitive judicious use, what can be obtained by careful, wise selection.

Harry Evans, of the O. S. U., made two interesting addresses on "Husbandry" during the day, along the line of breeding.

The subject of "Soil Fertility--The Soil Problem" was ably treated by Welton this afternoon.

There has been nothing introduced in Washington that offers to the west of the town and county the opportunity as the Home Course.

In all the surrounding cities this course has been taken up by progressive women with great interest. Our neighboring town of Hillsboro had an enrollment of 126 and other towns as high as 300.

Miss West and Miss Misskimen, of the O. S. U., two cultured young women, have the Home Course course in charge and are making it delightful as well as of great benefit to their scholars, who include some of Washington's society women as well as those outside of the town.

Miss Misskimen delivered the first lecture on "Pure Foods," taking up the various foods on the market and demonstrating in which preservatives have been used. The young teacher made emphatic the need for women to post themselves so as to buy with understanding. She also took up the canning of fruits and vegetables.

At the afternoon session Miss Misskimen treated of "Foods" and discussed the five food principles and their effects upon the body.

The subject of "Starchy Foods" was entertainingly treated by Miss West. She touched upon the necessity of starchy foods as energy giving, giving special attention to the constituents of the patent preparations and the time required to cook these foods, where the fibre around the starch requires softening. For this reason starchy vegetables require longer cooking. Miss West took up the subject of baking powders and their composition, emphasizing the danger from alum baking powder.

This course will be invaluable to housekeepers in its demonstrating principles of scientific cooking and its effect upon digestion and the general health, and will also give valuable recipes to the young housekeeper.

Tomorrow Miss West will take up vegetable foods, their composition, classification, and proper way of cooking. She will cook vegetables and make Waldorf and potato salads with cream salad dressing.

Miss Misskimen talks on "Milk and Eggs" and will make cream soup, prune whip, omelette and custard.

Some Landowner Is This Man

South Charleston now boasts of the largest land owner in Clark county, or perhaps Ohio. Thomas Matinson, who owns 2900 acres of Ohio land, and through a recent purchase has added to his Colorado land until he now has 70,000 acres in that state, with 2000 acres in Mississippi. On the Colorado farm is 10,000 cattle and 1000 horses. The Mississippi land is covered with hardwood timber and said to be very valuable. Madison County Democrat.

Mt. Sterling After Library

There has been much discussion among our people over the public library proposition, especially that feature of it referring to the ownership of building and lot. In answer to inquiries Supt. Silverthorn has received a number of letters from persons residing in towns where Carnegie libraries have been established and below we publish some of them. The first letter is from Mr. Carnegie's private secretary in which he agrees to give $10,000 for the erection and equipment of a building conditioned upon the town furnishing a site, and the town and township maintaining the library. The maintenance of the library has already been provided for by the school boards of the Mt. Sterling and Pleasant township districts. It is now up to the town to provide a site. Mt. BEAT THE BANK.

A French Naval Officer's Daring Expedition at Monte Carlo.

Those who have visited Monte Carlo have heard of it not seen the pitiful ruin of many an unfortunate person who has lost his last franc in playing at roulette in that palatial gambling den. All are not so fortunate as to have an armored cruiser at their disposal, as was the case with a French naval officer some years ago. He had gone ashore in the morning with naught in his pockets but his own earnings. By noon it was all gone.

If he but had another 500 francs he was sure of winning. During those morning hours of failure he had worked out a system, and with just a few francs more success was certain. He would use the ship's money. Perhaps it was not just the right thing to do, but in another two hours he would be able to return it, would have recouped his own loss and have won who knows what fortune besides.

At sunset he returned to his ship a ruined man. The system, like all systems of the sort, had failed. What was to be done? To return home would mean a dishonorable discharge, lifelong disgrace, if not even more severe punishment. Death seemed the only alternative. But no; he would make one final attempt to save himself. He would force the authorities of Monte Carlo to return to him what he had lost or he would blow up their gambling palace!

As soon as he was again on board his order was, "Clear decks for action. Raise the mizzen of every gun and let them point toward the heights of Monaco."

Whatever the sailors might think of such an order mattered little; obey they must. With all haste a messenger was sent ashore with a note, and the captain meanwhile paced the deck in silence awaiting the reply--a reply which meant life or death to him.

Finally the messenger returned carrying a bag of gold coins. That night the French cruiser weighed anchor and quietly steamed out into the Mediterranean, her captain happy that he had fared no worse and the authorities of Monte Carlo only too glad to be rid of so dangerous a visitor.--Washington Star.

CRITICAL POINT IN HISTORY OF EUROPE REACHED

Uneasy Rest the Heads That Wear the Crowns.

LONDON, (Spl.)—It is not merely the pessimists who believe that the powers of Europe have reached the breaking up point—the place where alliances are dissolved, groupings fade into the background, and that dreaded "general war" becomes a danger which it is impossible to avert.

All countries are beginning 1911 in the belief that the year will be the most critical that Europe has known for a generation.

For all the old combinations and the friendships which resulted in the "balance of power" are breaking up. Their day has come. And what will be substituted in their place no one can yet tell.

During the last ten years there have been two groups of Powers opposed in Europe—the Triple Entente, created by King Edward, and consisting of England, France and Russia; and the Triple Alliance—Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy.

It did not necessarily follow that any two of the countries on one side or the other worked hand in hand or were even on terms of friendship.

Italy and Austria, for instance, have long been at daggers points. But they did band together to prevent the nations on the opposite side obtaining any preponderance of power either in Europe or the world at large.

Practically speaking, England ruled the "Entente," Germany, the "Alliance." Each has for years been manoeuvring against the other to attach its two allies more firmly to itself, or to detach those of its opponents.

England's task has been harder than Germany's because the Entente has been more or less an informal affair, while the "Alliance" has been a formal treaty, signed and sealed.

But now Germany has come out on top. She has detached Russia from the Entente, and the entire balance of power is removed.

In a sense this result is not to be wondered at. Germany has always had before her a strong progressive policy.

England, on the other hand, has followed out a policy which has been mainly defensive. While Germany has worked hard to break up the Triple Entente, Britain has merely done her best to maintain it intact.

And, as happens nine times out of ten, the attack has prevailed over the defense.

Germany's first attempt was at the time of Algeciras conference, called to discuss the Moroccan question. Everyone knew that Germany had no real interests in Morocco and that her intervention was solely made to test the strength of the friendship between England and France.

The intimation from the former that, in the event of Germany going to war with France on the Moroccan pretense, the British fleet would at once blockade the German ports and cover the landing of a large French force, while 150,000 English troops would also assist, proved that the friendship was too strong to be easily broken.

Recently the Liberal newspapers in Great Britain, anxious to come to an understanding with Germany in regard to the question of limitation of armaments, have been maintaining that the Triple Entente was never meant to have any effective use, but was just a name given to the friendly feelings existing between the three powers—that, in fact the Triple Entente meant nothing in practice.

Although this was not the view of the Liberal cabinet yet both France and Russia have taken it as a sign of the times and their feelings toward England have cooled off accordingly.

Germany was quick to seize the opportunity. She saw the chance of a deal which would both effectually break up the Entente, once and for all, and at the same time, largely disarm Russia of her hatred toward the Teutonic people.

Her proposition was to give up northern Persia to Russia in return for the latter yielding up her opposition to the Bagdad railroad.

This railroad, which is being built entirely of German money, is destined to extend from Constantinople to the Persian gulf. At the present time it is about half finished.

A girl is not necessarily as sweet as she thinks she is simply because she takes to candy as readily as a boy takes to tobacco.

A desire to make more money continues to be a greater incentive to good work than any motto you may live hanging on the wall.

It is still possible, however, to get into vaudeville without killing your husband or being lost at sea.

The Key to Life's Success

THE Other Man, though I did not know him, began to talk about the scenery from the car window. "It is surprising," he said, "what changes have taken place here. Yesterday I was across the river in Kentucky, and picked up this in a cutting that is being made for a new trolley line."

It was a bit of stone.

"These rough spots, like spirals, were once shell fish. Such specimens are to be found hereabouts in great quantities. And this," turning to the other side, "is, as you see a perfect shell as large as an oyster, though it is not an oyster. Curiously interesting, isn't it?"

"Does your professional work lead you to study these things?" I asked him.

"No," he said, "I'm not a professional man. I'm in the soap business, but I travel a great deal, and everything I see interests me. Take, for instance, the wild flowers along the railway. It has taken me years to learn their names, habits and places of growth, for I haven't much time to think about them. But I know a hundred or more, and they are like a lot of good friends to me."

"Well," I said, "you must have a special talent for this sort of thing. It probably comes easy for you, and you like to think about it."

"You are about ten per cent right and ninety wrong. I do like to learn that's all there is to it. As for it's coming easy to me, nothing I have ever learned came easy. It is hard for me to get hold of new words and new facts. I can sell soap, and I can sell it easily; that's my business, though in the beginning it was as great a mystery to me as this shell. But I didn't let it remain a mystery. There's a lot to be learned about everything, yes, even about the soap business."

I recalled Sidney Smith's remark that he never met a man in his life who failed to interest him, and I concluded that this soap man must have built up an interesting philosophy of life. I guessed it to be a simple philosophy, for he appeared a simple and entirely natural man. So I ventured another question:

"Then, if learning about fossils and plants is difficult to you, why burden yourself with the doing of it? Isn't the soap business good?"

"Yes," he said, "the soap business is fine. Soap is all right. People are taking to it more and more. You must remember that every time a piece of soap is used, it becomes smaller; which means that the person using it is just that much nearer, having to buy another piece. And helps some in our business. But there is a lot more to it than waiting for the piece to be worn thin."

"I used to be discouraged with my progress in business, until I learned that appearing to be busy by giving my body a grand shake when the boss was looking, did no good. The great secret of all learning and of all success, as far as I can see is never to be lazy in mind that helped me a lot when I first thought of it, and I determined to get out of the 'leisure moments' business. It is a bad proposition."

"I travel a good deal, and I call my travel hours my college education. If I have business to think over, I write up, I do it. If any time I left, I study the country out of doors or the book in my bag. And, if any thing comes before me that I want to know more about, I make a note of it, and some day I find out about it; for I believe that the unknown thing comes to my attention because it is good for me. It comes to me hence it is mine, and I don't run away from it."

"But does not the variety of interests you have interfere with your business?"

"My dear sir, I want to assure you that I have heard that query before. But let me tell you."

"A man tends to business with his mind—do you get that—with his mind!"

"Now, whatever interests a man and engages his thought, gives him more mind."

"And he takes that 'more' mind into his business."

"No objection to that, is there?"

"It seems to me that if you want to solve a little problem or two in the universal mystery, you must unlock its unknown quantity with work. I call work the Golden Key. Work is a mind process—not a body shake."

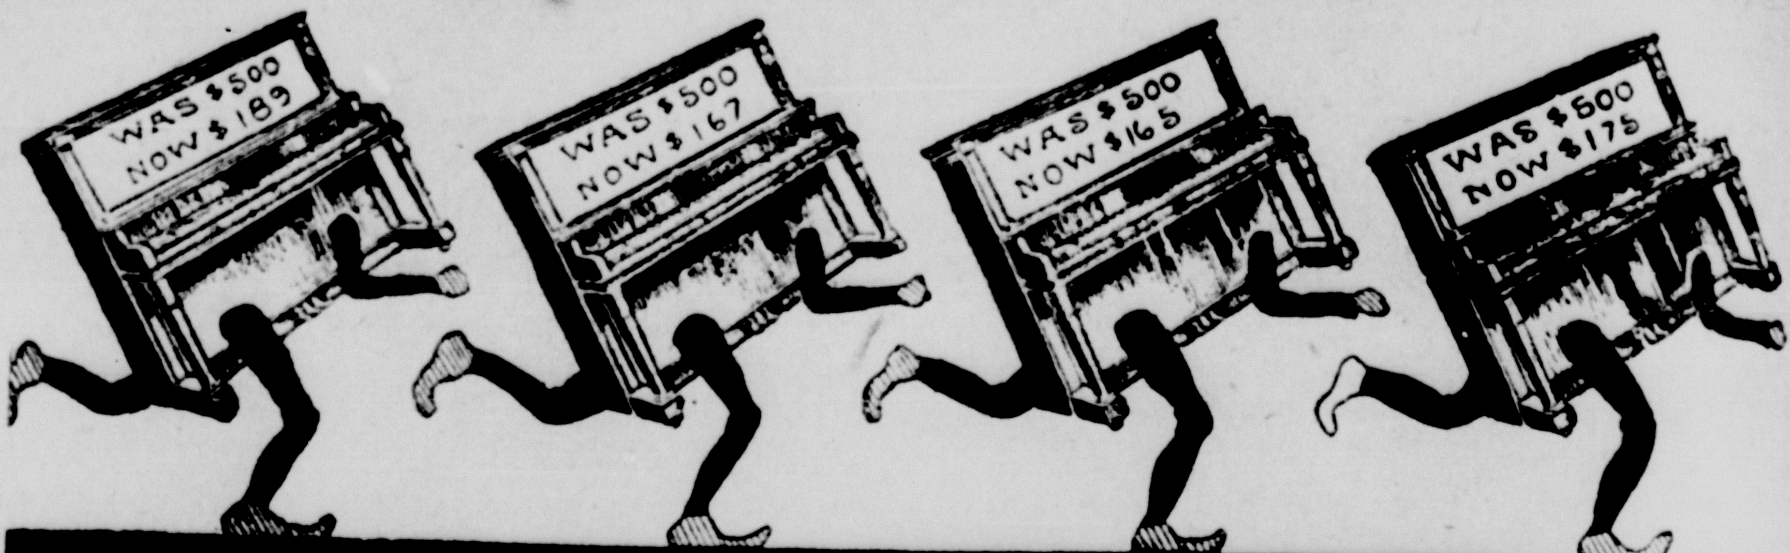

"Take, for instance, that coin or our watch chain. If you learned everything about it, as a lawyer would about a case, you would probably end by making coins and their history a hobby."

"You would be astonished at two things—the amount of knowledge you would get of government, history, finance, and so on; and next the increase of mental power you would gain."

"Give the mind a little excursion to the right or left of your business, and it lubricates all the machinery."

"Yes, sir, the Golden Key to the mystery is work, and mind work at that. Even physical labor can be guided and arranged and worked out first in the head. A laborer who labors with his body alone, without thought, is generally the poorest kind of a man you can hire."

Kidney Sauce

Take two kidneys, one tablespoonful of flour, pepper and salt, one-half teaspoonful of each, one-half glassful of stock, one-half glassful of claret. Skin and mince the kidneys into fine dice, shake the flour well over them, place all the other ingredients in a stewpan, and let it boil gently for five minutes.

Place the stewpan at the side of the fire, add the kidneys and stew all gently for ten minutes, being careful not to let it boil. Pour over roast fowl or place in a separate tureen and serve.

Saratoga Potatoes

Peel the potatoes, and slice them with a saw cutter, put them in cold water with a handful of salt and let them stand for an hour or more, then drain first in a colander, then on a napkin until dry.

Fry in hot fat until a nice brown. Those with keen senses, should they lose their senses, before all are used, set in a brisk oven for a few moments.

LA GRIPPE COUGHS

Strain and weaken the system and if not checked may develop into pneumonia. No danger of this when Foley's Honey and Tar is taken promptly. It is a reliable family medicine for all coughs and colds, and acts quickly and effectively in cases of croup. Remember the name Foley's Honey and Tar for all coughs and colds, for croup, bronchitis, hoarseness and for racking lagrippe coughs. No opiates. Refuse substitutes. Blackmer & Tanquary.

SPEEDY RELIEF FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

"I had an acute attack of Bright's disease with inflammation of the kidneys and bladder, and dizziness," says Mrs. Cora Thorp, Jackson, Mich. "A bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy overcame the attack, reduced the inflammation, took away the pain and made the bladder action normal. I wish everyone could know of this wonderful remedy." Blackmer & Tanquary.

Poor Fellow.

Claude — That's odd. B'Jove everyone said you were a big stiff.

The demure little glob, brought into prominence by the designer of the Quaker gown, will be much in vogue during the coming months, and is seen in many variations.

On the plain cloth gowns it is usually of softest mull or perhaps china silk, edged with lace frills, but on the lighter weight gowns it runs the gamut of fancy.

One charming one was made of the material of the frock itself, edged with gold thread fringe.

Plain Hats With Them.

Another was of silk net, edged with a border of flowers in a vivid shade, while another style comes to a point in the back, with tassels swinging from it, and is crossed at the belt in front to hang in sashlike ends to the hem of the skirt.

The simple white flibus to wear with plain chambray or voile frocks are the prettiest, however, and may easily be made at home.

They should be of very soft white material, edged with a narrow frill, or a deep hem, and turnback cuffs to match may be made for the sleeves.

It is wise to remember, however, that so simple and so becoming a costume is entirely spoiled by the addition of an elaborate and beplumed hat.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mrs. R. Snyder, Springfield, O., says, "For six years I had suffered severely with kidney trouble and had backache together with painful urinary irregularities. I lost sleep and became restless and nervous. A friend advised me to try Foley Kidney Pills which I did. The results were surprising. The pains left my back, my kidney action came regular, and normal and without pain. I can sleep all night. All this I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills which I certainly recommend to all for kidney trouble." Blackmer & Tanquary.
